HOT SPRINGS.

Its Bath Houses.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., January 21.
ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

Imagination carries us further than our foot-steps will ever reach while coiled in this mortal tenement of clay. It wafts us aloft amid the myriads of celestial worlds, it draws us through the billows of the mighty deep, and into the uttermost recesses of the earth, and its remotest bounds.
Our conceptions are so vivid that we behold more in a moment's ideality than we witness in a lifetime's realization. What though astronomy teaches us the science of the heavenly bodies, and geography gives us a description of the world and its inhabitants; is this not visionary after all!
and our hearts still yearn for a realization of those things never revealed to us. We live in a land where all our dreams and fancies may possibly be realized. Our great railroad facilities afford us easy access within close proximity to many of the natural wonders that Omnipotence has strewn our continent with. The great Atlantic and Pacific which bound our Continent on the East and West, with their attractive summer resorts, and their gulfs, bays, capes, and inlets are easily reached. Our vast lakes and forests of the north and northwest are within easy reach of us. We have everywhere around us marvelous wonders such as Mammoth Cave, Niagara, and innumerable health-giving mineral springs, of which there are none more beneficial and attractive than the far-famed

HOT SPRINGS OF ARKANSAS.

Located almost in the heart of this continent, near the exact geographical center of the United States, they are easily accessible to every portion of our own, as well as that of other countries. Taking in the situation, after you arrive on the "Diamond Jo" (Reynolds') narrow gauge railroad, you strike the northern extremity of Central Avenue which alone comprises the town. We read in Biblical history of a street called straight-but the one you read of now might well be called crooked. The valley of the Ozark presents to the visitor a rather romantic appearance with its winding street about two miles long, running from north to south. Coursing to the southward on your left is the east and on your right the west.
You will perceive that on the former side are nearly all the stores which retail every commodity of commerce from a glass of Mountain Valley water at two cents up to a steam engine or a doll baby. Confectioneries, saloons, cigar and drug stores are extensively represented, which gives to the street a civilized appearance. There is still another feature noticeable which tends to confirm its metropolitan aspect, namely: the several signs of "Rooms for rent," doctor's offices and club rooms. These are placed on every outside entrance from one end of the street to the other.
Changing to the west side and returning northward, casting your eyes still to the left your optics are confronted by some fine hotel buildings, such as the Arlington, Avenue and Waverly, with some few smaller ones and private boarding houses interspersed. Then come the bath houses which are the most interesting of all the numerous artificial curiosities of the place. They are about a dozen in number and they extend in succession from the Arlington Hotel to the post office, a distance of about one quarter of a mile, and are located at the foot of Hot Springs mountain, where come all the fountains of living waters.

There is even a peculiarity in the names of these bath houses which we will now describe for your perusal.
The principal ones are New Rectory, Big Iron, Ozark, Independent, Palace, Old Hale, (ought to be Old Hell), and Rammelburg. These names have different derivations.
The Rectory after an old family living here by that name; the Ozark after the neighboring mountains; the Big Iron after the spring it is built on;
and the Rammelburg after its owner.
Two of the three banks of the place are next to the post office, and from these on to the depot are a few houses of the appearance of jobbing houses of heavy wares, such as groceries, hardware, etc.

The Avenue hotel has its own bath rooms, and most of its guests as well as some outside parties patronize there, being considered amongst the best, and having all the essential appointments for the comfort and convenience of its patrons. There is hardly any difference in the properties of the waters of any of these bath houses, as it is supposed all come from the same source, and the Government built some large brick reservoirs into which all the waters of the springs are run, and from these all the bath houses are supplied, and hence there is practically no difference. The interior of the bath house is by far the most interesting, and exhilarating of all the variety of pastimes incident to this "Baden Baden" of America. You are first introduced into the office where you purchase your bath ticket, either single or for a course. The superintendent shows you into the bath parlor, where you find a score or more of cranks awaiting their turn in the bath tub, reposing on chairs, and sofas with the temperature of the room above 90 degrees Fahrenheit, while the thermometer is hanging zero on the outside. The first thing you do after entering the bath parlor is to find the rubber, your doctor prescribed for you, hand him the doctor's directions and the ticket you purchased in the office, then he puts your name on his register, asks you to retire to the parlor and await your turn. By this time you have gotten up full steam and begin to realize the effects of the water already, but before you get through waiting for your turn you will wish yourself in purgatory for a change. Your turn comes at last, after you imagine that you have been waiting for a lifetime; you enter the bath house proper, and are shown into No. 2 by your attendant. After undressing you plunge into the tub, and there remain from 5 to 10 minutes. After your time has expired in the bath, if so directed by your doctor, you will go into the vapor, a closet into which the steam is conducted. This is entirely without ventilation, and you will be sure not to remain longer than the three minutes allowed you.

After coming out of the vapor, you take another duck in the tub and if you wish a cold shower bath you can have it. Your attendant then rubs you down with a Turkish towel, and after you dress you then return to the parlor to thaw out. Here are a score or more of choice spirits suffering with all the ills ever heard of, re-eking, steaming, pouring forth the perspiration in torrents, mopping their heads and faces with towels, and describing to each other with great intensities the new and interesting phases of their different diseases. The scenes and narratives which are continually indulged in are very encouraging and interesting to the new comer. One crank comes half exhausted out of the bath and vapor saying "If hell is any hotter than this, the Lord deliver us from it. I have been here for three months and I don't feel any better than when I first came," and another complains of his doctor, and another of his bath, and maintains that the waters are better elsewhere, and so on, until the "tender-foot" just newly arrived is frightened at the horrible sights he sees and discouraging tales he hears.
After you have taken the second or third bath, and have overcome your nervousness you begin to experience a strange exhilarating thrill as if a succession of slight electric shocks, which is followed by an acceleration of the pulse. There is a stimulation and exhilaration of all the vital energies. The whole capillary and circulatory system is aroused to new activity. Congestion is overcome, healthy secretions are promoted, diseased tissues are rapidly eliminated, perverted nervous action is connected, the quality of the blood is improved and restoration is begun. Then the deaf hear, the blind see, the lame walk, and the cranks are made whole.

Another interesting feature of a kindred nature to the bath house, and which occupies the remainder of your leisure hours, is the doctor's office. Here again you encounter about the same number and exactly the same character of malcontents, waiting for their turn. But the atmosphere here is not altogether so hot as in the bath-parlor, so they blaspheme the cold stove, narrate as before their different troubles, while the doctor in the consulting room examines and operates on each patient as his turn arrives. When a fellow talks a little loud to the doctor, some one remarks, he it confessing. And when a poor devil shrieks in agony, he is paying the fiddler.
There are more doctors here than in any town of its size in the world.
Some are strictly first-class, others moderate, and the remainder are N. G.
The other interesting features of the place are its hotels and boarding houses, it would be trespassing too much on your space to narrate their various episodes. O. L.

Railroad.

A petition will be forwarded from this county this week, to the Kentucky Legislature, asking that a charter be granted for the erection of a railroad from this place to Hopkin-ville, and continue from that point to intersect either the Elizabethtown and Paducah road, at or near Greenville, or the Louisville & Nashville road, at or near Russellville.

There is not a more available route contemplated in Kentucky; one that could be built at a less cost, or would be of more convenience to the public or pay a better dividend to the stock holders.

The people of Trigg county like the business men of Cadiz are an energetic, thrifty population, and when the charter is passed we will say to Hopkinsville, and Christian county, that if they mean business, Cadiz and Trigg county will meet them half way.

Now we have never been an enemy to the erection of the Clarksville railroad, though it has been very industriously circulated that we were.
If the road should run as at present contemplated, twelve or thirteen miles away from our town, and flitting like a spectre through only about five miles of the poorest corner of our county, the question would very naturally arise, as to the advantage the people of Cadiz, or Trigg county might expect to derive from it. Still we have never opposed it.

But we do favor the building of a Narrow Gauge Road from this place to Hopkinsville, because we believe it would help build up both Hopkin-ville and Cadiz, would add greatly to the wealth of the town, and the county, and a be great public convenience to us all.—Cadiz Old Guard.

In 1873 a public coffee-house was established in London for the purpose of checking intemperance, and to-day there are over 100 such enterprises in England, mostly in London. They receive the hearty praise of the church and the substantial aid of the respectable classes.

A bill will be introduced into the Legislature to incorporate a cremation society in Louisville.

Gov. Bate, of Tennessee, has been in office more than a year and has issued but twelve pardons.

If the Legislature doesn't want to break the State it had better hurry up and break the Senatorial deadlock.

An Ex-Speaker of the New Jersey Legislature has been convicted of an attempt to bribe a member of the Legislature, and has been sentenced to a term in the penitentiary.

Another colored boy has been admitted to the West Point Military Academy. He is from Ohio and his name is John H. Alexander. His rank in the school is 63 and he behaves himself well.

Dr. McClure, of Jeffersonville, Ind., accidentally rammed his head against a gas jet and burned all the hair off his head. This may be referred to as a hair-breadth escape.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature authorizing Magistrates to assess a fine of $25 for each offense of selling theatre tickets above the box-office price. This is rough on ticket speculators.

James Nutt, who killed N. L. Dukes, at Uniontown, Pa., for the seduction and abduction of his sister and the subsequent killing of his father, was acquitted upon trial last week.

59 out of 67 miners in a coal mine at Crested Butte, Colorado, were killed by a fire-damp explosion Thursday. The bodies were dug out the following day. The 8 men who escaped were at the mouth of the mine and had not entered.

Congress has passed a resolution permitting two South American youths—one a son of the President of Guatemala and the other of the Ex-President of Nicaragua—to be educated at West Point. They are to pay all their expenses.

Gov. Knott's first veto was read before the Legislature last Wednesday. The bill was one originating in the House and concurred in by the Senate exempting from taxation for county purposes for thirty years, all property of the Cincinnati, Green River & Nashville Railroad Company in Lincoln county. The Governor offered two objections to the bill, viz.: that the provisions of the bill were unjust to the people of Lincoln county and that they were unconstitutional.

Fred Douglass, the well-known negro politician, of Washington, was married on the 24th to Miss Helen Pitts, a white woman who was formerly a copyist in his office while he was marshal of the district. Douglass' first wife was a negro woman and has been dead about a year. The woman he has just married is about 35 years old—less than half his age—and no older than his daughters by his first wife. There is a law in the District of Columbia against miscegenation, but Douglass will take his chances of a prosecution, as several violations have recently been passed unnoticed. The woman is said to be a comely brunette, with curly black hair.

The Owensboro Messenger says it is murder to kill a burglar who is trying to escape when caught in the act of robbery. The Messenger must be misinformed in regard to the law. It is justifiable, or excusable homicide, and if a grand jury should find an indictment at all it would only be for manslaughter. It is a pity that every burglar is not discovered and shot dead on the spot. The Messenger's statement that Tom Witty killed the Casky burglar without knowing his offense is entirely erroneous. Witty was one of the posse summoned to arrest the negro, who was discovered inside the store burglarized and he was making his escape when shot by Witty. The latter had an examining trial before two magistrates and was acquitted. Our contemporary's assertion that the killing was murder is absurd.

Sixteen years ago Jim Hardison and Bob Bronson, of Richelieu, Logan county, engaged in a difficulty, at a log-rolling and Hardison killed Bronson with a broadaxe and was subsequently tried and acquitted. Ever since there has been a deadly feud between their families and numerous quarrels, shootings and cuttings have been the result. Last Wednesday Geo. Hardison and Harry Bronson, sons of the participants in the first affray, met at Richelieu and after getting half drunk drew their knives and closed in a deadly struggle. Both men were game and active and in a moment Bronson fell dead stabbed to the heart and Hardison was disemboweled and lived but a few moments. Both factions are up in arms and more blood shed is expected.

A SENATOR AT LAST,

Would be a Gratifying Announcement, but it Cannot Yet be Made.

SIX MORE BALLOTS TAKEN WITHOUT EFFECT.

Our last report recorded the result of the 60th ballot, taken Wednesday night. The caucus met as usual on Thursday night and the 61st and 62nd ballots resulted in the announcement of the same old figures: Williams 52; Blackburn 55; Sweeney 24.

There were many absentees represented by proxies and the crowd of spectators had dwindled down to a mere handful. After two ballots Senator Rigney moved to adjourn.

Mr. Talbot demurred upon the ground that the caucus was rapidly nearing a conclusion (laughter.)

Senator Clement said the Clerks were tired calling the roll. He would suggest that the members would remain all night in their seats and the Clerks instead of calling the roll could wait until the members wanted to change. This would save time and trouble (cheers and laughter.)

Mr. Mulligan got the floor and made a humorous speech, concluding with a motion that the caucus adjourn and that the members go to see "Pop," a play going on at the theatre. Then the caucus adjourned until Friday night.

Upon reassembling Friday night the question of settling the contest for Librarian came up, but the matter was postponed until Feb. 1. Ballotting for Senator then began and the 63rd ballot showed no change. Mr. Harcourt then offered a resolution rescinding the caucus rule that prohibited further nominations. Upon motion of Blackburn men the consideration of the resolution was postponed indefinitely, by a vote of 64 to 56. This prevents further nominations until this question shall have been reconsidered, upon a motion of some member who voted affirmatively. It will be observed that 4 or 5 votes more would be enough to reconsider and pass the resolution and put an end to the deadlock.

In this connection we will state that 11 members from the 1st and 2nd Districts voted with the majority. A motion to appoint a committee of 12 to devise some means to break the deadlock was then made, and tabled by a vote of 76 to 44.

The 64th ballot was then taken and Harcourt of Spencer changed from Williams, to Sweeney, the vote standing: Williams, 51, Blackburn, 45, Sweeney, 25. On the next ballot the same member voted for Blackburn and on the 66th again changed back to Williams, saying he had been taking a little circuit and would return home.

The caucus after taking 4 ballots adjourned till last night. There is no probability that a conclusion will be reached this week.

HOBBY RIDING.

We notice that many have a mania for talking of their ailments. One question about their health will tilt over on you the great reservoir of their complaints. They have told the story so often that they can slide through the whole, from Calves to C below. For thirty years their spine has been at a discount, and they never were any better of neuralgia till they took the rheumatism. At first you feel sympathy for the invalid; but, after awhile, the story touches the ludicrous. They tell you that they feel so faint in the morning, and have such a poor appetite at noon, and cannot sleep nights, and have limbo in their backs and little dots floating before their eyes, and have taken ammonia, gargled their throat with sal-ammoniac and bathed their back with saponaceous liniment; that very moment they are chewing chamomile flowers to settle their stomachs, and excuse themselves for a moment to take off a mustard plaster that begins to blister. They are the harvest of druggists and the amazement of physicians, who no sooner clear the pain from one spot than it appears in another. At times we should talk over our distresses and seek sympathy, but perpetual discourse on such themes wears out the patience of our friends. You always see the young people run from the groaning valetudinarian, and the minister fails in his condolence, for why speak of the patience of Job to one that says boils are nothing to his distresses? The hobby he rides is wounded. Incurable nags are taken out on the common and killed, but this poor hobby goes on with no hope on the other side of the Red sea of joining Pharaoh's horses. The more it limps, and the harder it breathes, the faster they ride it.—T. De Witt Tammage.

Having had five years of experience, we feel confident that we can safely promise to make the paper better for 1884 than ever before. Give us your patronage and it will be received with gratitude.

Wedding at Elmo.

Mr. Jno. Lunderman and Miss Ella Allen were married by Elder S. P. Forgy, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Allen, on the 23d inst, in the presence of a large circle of friends, all of Christian country, Ky.

As the bridal party swept into the parlor, led by Miss Lulu Thomas and Mr. J. C. Callett; Miss Etta Ragdale and Mr. J. A. Allen; Miss Allie Lunderman and Mr. John Hambaugh, there was breathless silence. All eyes were turned to the beautiful bride and the handsome and worthy bridegroom approaching the marriage altar. It was almost painful silence as though the large audience realized that vows of momentous interest were being taken. But as the solemn Amen was uttered by the officiating clergyman, a joyous relief was indicated by general congratulations. The many nice presents made added to the pleasure of the occasion. After partaking of a sumptuous feast, the company returned to the parlor all "all went as merry as a marriage bell."

KIRKMANVILLE.

January 22, '84.

Mr. Editor:

It is a sad thing with us to chronicle the death of Mrs. Sue Gates, though expected—for she has been lingering for months with that dreadful disease, consumption. She was the youngest of four sisters all having died with the same disease. She bore her afflictions without a murmur and with that faith only known to the Christian. She had been a zealous member of the Christian church for years and entertained the brightest hopes of a home in that beautiful land of bliss. She was a kind wife, a true mother, a loving sister and a devoted aunt and to those bereaved ones we extend our tenderest sympathy and condolence. Peace to her ashes.

John McFadin will follow her in a few days with the same disease. Well our school is progressing finely; a good number of new scholars since Christmas with a good outlook. We have preaching here twice a month. The Methodists the second Sunday and the Christians the third. Will erect two church houses in the summer.

Our Tobaccoist is receiving a good deal of the weed, which is helping our merchants.

Our stock dealers are handling a good many hogs and cattle. They have a fine lot of young hogs on hand.

Mr. G. E. Gaither has returned from the East with his stock of drugs and will open up his new store and be ready for business by Feb. 1.

Rev. F. L. Braun, of the Lutheran emigrant mission, has been appointed agent for the Bremen and Baltimore steam ship line, North German Lloyd.

B. F. Thaxton, who was arrested as an accomplice of Patterson in the Garrett burglary, at New Providence, Tenn., has been released for lack of evidence to hold him.

The heirs of Gen. Jno. W. Gaines estate have requested the county Judge to appoint Esp. T. H. Gritter and Mr. W. C. White as administrators of his estate. —Telephone.

Three thousand six hundred and ten dollars was the amount realized by Mr. Jno. B. Bell from his recent sale of live stock, implements and furniture. One blooded cow sold for $125. Another equally as good had a horn knocked off on the day of the sale and sold for only $72.

Four or five empty freight cars were wrecked at Kelly Sunday, entailing upon the railroad company a loss of about $2,000. We understand it was due to the negligence of railroad employees. The cars and locomotive were thrown over a steep embankment and badly demolished. No body was hurt.

We are credibly informed, that on Sunday last Dr. Wm. M. Fuqua, of this city, assisted by Drs. Feland and Jackson, successfully removed a cockle burr from the windpipe of Jas. West, a lad of eleven years of age. This foreign body had been lodged in his throat for eight days. There is every indication that he will recover.

Dr. J. R. Payne has removed from St. Bethlehem to Garrettsburg, Ky., where he will practice his profession hereafter. The gentleman enjoys an enviable reputation as a physician and surgeon, and also as a gentleman, and while we regret to lose him as a citizen of the county, we most cheerfully commend him to the people of Garrettsburg as one skilled in his profession and in every way worthy the confidence of his neighbors. —Tobacco Leaf.

Work is now going ahead on our county history. Dr. Tydings is writing up internal improvements and Col. Perrin is preparing biographical sketches. The gentlemen who are soliciting subscriptions to the book are meeting with flattering success. The Wm. Stafford Company presented "Othello" at the Opera House Saturday evening. Mr. Stafford is a rising young tragedian and acquitted himself very creditably. Miss Porter, his leading lady support, as Desdemona did some excellent emotional acting. The other members of the company were not worthy of special note. Upon the whole the rendition was fairly good. The attendance was small.

IN THE DAYS OF CHARLEMAGNE.

The rudeness of the conquering races regarding meals is shown by the manner in which the table of Charlemagne was served. The Emperor dined at midday alone. The Dukes and Princes waited on him and dined at the same table when he had done. They were succeeded by the Counts and high functionaries, who were waited on and replaced by the military suites, and so on through several gradations down to the lowest class of domestics, whose turn seldom arrived before midnight. At the same time Charlemagne encouraged the production of fruit and flowers, as adding to the enjoyment of the people, and was pleased when any special delicacy was presented to him. The Genevese trout are honorably mentioned in the capitularies, and it will be remembered that one of these trout, supplied to Cambacores by the municipality of Geneva, was charged 300 francs in their accounts. The first to transgress the sumptuary laws of Charlemagne were his wives (he was nine times married) and his daughters, who figured at court festivals and in the hunting field with purple robes or sables and coronets set with precious stones.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

Assassination of Policeman Jones by Coal Thieves—Serious Accident to Mr. G. W. Baldwin—A Youthful Burglar Captured.

POLICEMAN G. L. JONES SHOT.

For months Hopkinsville has been gradually becoming noted as a point infested with coal thieves. So great have been the losses sustained by the railroad company that they have given orders that loaded cars be stopped at Kelly or Casky, and not left over night in this city. During a recent cold spell, nine cars of lump coal were stopped for thirty-six hours at the turntable, in the suburbs of the city, without a guard. When they were taken on south they were re-weighed and fell short 1,000 bushels, or nearly one-third. Investigation showed that wagons had been backed up to the cars and coal stolen by the wagon load. Quite a number of coal houses were found filled with coal that none of the dealers had sold. This was the straw that broke the camel's back, and the company immediately employed Mr. G. L. Jones to guard their interests and stopped through trains from laying over here. As the coal dealers all have private watchmen, the thieves found it impossible to steal coal except to throw lumps from slowly moving cars at night and for a while they watched their chances and would light on to the cars like buzzards on a carcass. Mr. Jones went to work energetically to stop this. A few nights ago he arrested a white man in the act of stealing coal, who is now out of jail on a bail bond. One night last week he caught some other parties stealing and as they ran he fired after them, shooting Jim Jackson, col. in the arm. Jackson denies that he was the thief and says that he was crossing the railroad, but it is said evidence will be adduced to prove that he was one of the men Jones was after. On last Friday night while Jones was patrolling the depot platform some miscreant concealed under a coal car suddenly fired upon him three times. The first shot inflicted a flesh wound in the thigh. The others missed him. Mr. Jones was taken to his home on the corner of Liberty and South streets, and Dr. Fairchild dressed his wound. He will probably be confined to his bed for two or three weeks, if not longer. The railroad company will pay all his expenses and continue his wages while he is disabled. Mr. Jones has made an efficient and fearless officer and will resume his duties as soon as he is able. In the meantime his place will be filled with a substitute and every effort will be made to discover the assassin.

A BROKEN LEG.

Mr. G. W. Baldwin, of this city, was at the residence of Mr. J. R. Caudle, near Newstead, last week. On last Thursday morning he started home on horseback but before getting out of the premises his horse slipped away threw him against a post, breaking his leg, diagonally, below the knee. He kept his saddle and rode back to Mr. Caudle's and was assisted into the house. The fracture is a painful one and will keep him confined for a month, or more. He is at Mr. Caudle's and cannot be brought home. Mr. Baldwin is a member of the contracting firm of Baldwin & Sons, of this city, and has many friends who deeply sympathize with him in his misfortune. The Knights of Pythias Lodge, here, of which he is a member, will pay him $5 a week benefits during his disability.

A BOOTLECK JUGGED FOR BURGLARY.

Newman Gray, a colored bootblack about 17 years old, was arrested by policeman Witly, Saturday, charged with breaking into Ballard's store Wednesday night and stealing sugar, cutlery, etc. Suspicion was directed to him by the unusual number of pocket knives which he offered to trade. When the officer attempted to arrest him he took to his heels and the policeman accelerated his speed by firing two or three pistol shots into the air. He was headed off and is now languishing in durance vite. It is said that a pocket knife found on his person has been identified as one of the knives stolen from Mr. Ballard. He has been held over till the grand jury meets in March, to answer to a charge of burglary.

OUTWITTING THE COURT.

Several years ago when George Francis Train was in Australia, the Captain of an ocean steamship was fined $30,000 in court for ejecting on his latest voyage six male passengers from the ladies' parlor, whose rules forbade their entering that apartment. He had no such sum of money, couldn't raise it, could not appeal, and the delay in sailing would ruin him. Train, who was a spectator, stepped forward and got permission of the court to advise the Captain in private. After the lapse of half an hour he returned, and was about to address the court when one of the magistrates asked where the Captain was. "I don't know," said Train. "He is no client of mine. I left him outside." Search was made, and a line of black smoke in the office showed that the Captain was off for England.

SPECIAL LOCALS.

I'm Going To Tandy's To Get a First-class Elegant Drink.

This cut represents two well-known, aristocratic and wealthy merchants, of New York, who happened to be here on business at the same time, and who met on Main street, and after passing the compliments of the day, and questioned as to where each was going, the portly gentleman answered in the head lines of this article. The place referred to by these gents was the elegant dispensary in the Phoenix hotel owned and presided over by that urbane gentleman Mr. J. M. Tandy. Mr. Theodore Jones, late of Owensboro, is connected with him and will be found the chief conductor behind the bar. Mr. Tandy has not only a wide-spread reputation for, but does keep one of the finest and best saloons in this section of country. His stock, which consists of wines, liquors, beer, cigars and tobacco, are of the best quality, and the manner in which he entertains you can not be surpassed. "This place is a fine and week and desirous of a week today to moisten their parching lips should not forget Tandy's. His motto is: 'Meet socially, drink moderately and call again.' A fine warm lunch is served every day from 10 to 1 o'clock.

A NOTABLE HOTEL.

Let the heavens be burdened with clouds or let any part be thrown in the "slough of despond," the management of the Burdridge House ever preserves an air of cheerfulness which is felt by every stranger within its gates, while the fare set before their patrons has an equally soothing influence. It is not alone in meals that this house excels; the beds, as we have reason to know, being first-class. The occasional visitor at well as the regular patron here will find such accommodations at the Burdridge House as are not offered by any other house in town. Let our friends and the traveling public try it, and be thoroughly convinced.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

In the manufacture of hominy about one-half of the corn is lost, the flinty part alone being saved for hominy, while the germ, sweet or soft part of the berry and smaller particles of hominy are worked off. This makes a most excellent food for stock of any kind as it contains the nutritious part of the berry. To farmers or any one else wanting to try this food I will make an equal exchange pound for pound or can supply them at 80 cents per one hundred pounds. It is a well known fact that ground food will grow much farther and stock will thrive and fatten faster fed from it. It makes a most excellent cow food, especially when mixed with bran.

WOMAN'S PHYSICIAN

AND

LADIES' PRIVATE COMPANION

FOR

HOME TREATMENT.

A COMMON SENSE MEDICAL INSTRUCTOR FOR LADIES ONLY; Containing full information in reference to all questions relating to Womanhood, the better to enable the sex to fulfill their duties and to enjoy themselves in their various relations as Mothers, Wives and Mothers. It is, as a popular work, commending itself to the great heart of Womanhood; written in plain, concise and delicate language, easy of understanding and above all other recommendations, it is thoroughly reliable and right to the point.

It is a work which fills a place occupied by no other book, and is a complete library in itself. No lady, however sensitive, will ever regret its perusal. It gives information which will make life more pleasant, give a higher zest to its enjoyment, make those by whom home ties are prized, prize and enjoy them still more; while it will certainly relieve many irksome burdens now borne by those to whom life has proved almost, if not quite, a failure. It gives the causes, symptoms and treatment with prescriptions for every disease peculiar to the sphere for which it is designed. To those who have unintentionally, by ignorance, or by a reckless disregard of the divine laws of health made themselves wretched in life by sickness, resulting from any of the various forms of weaknesses, which follow in the train of womanhood, we can unhesitatingly and most confidently recommend this book as one which will give you the advice you need, the means by which to restore you to health and happiness. The wasted form, the pale, wan cheek, the listless sunken eyes, the slow dragging step, the "stirred nature" is too often seen in our homes. The authors of this work sincerely believe that all these features may be changed, the form again rounded and plump, the cheeks to bloom with roses of health, the eye sparkle with life and vivacity, the light quick step regained, and the overcast nature restored, by a simple, home treatment and prescriptions as laid down in this work, and in this belief, and with an earnest desire to benefit the suffering, and renew health and happiness to the afflicted, and to furnish such information to those now in health, as will enable them to retain it and avoid these difficulties, this book has been prepared. Every invalid should obtain a copy and treat themselves, and no lady in health can afford to be without it and thus remain in ignorance of its peculiar, interesting and instructive teachings. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a SAFE GUIDE FOR THE SEX. It is handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent post-paid to ladies only, upon receipt of $1. Address the
